MURDER DURING LAWRENCE
LABOR TROUBLES FREED
BY JURY'S VERDICT.

PRISONERS JUBILANT

Two Men Embrace Each Other in Court Room Weeping Tears of Joy—A History of the Alleged Offense.

Salem, Mass., Nov. 26.—"Not guilty," is the verdict of the jury in the case of Joseph J. Ettore, Arturo Giovanni and Joseph Caruso for the murder of Anna Lopizzo, who was killed in a Lawrence textile strike last winter.

When the three men had heard the words freeing them from the charge they embraced and kissed each other. Giovanni then sprang to his feet. "Gentlemen of the jury," he said, "my face beaming with joy, 'the name of justice, truth and civilization' thank you. As he sat down the court interpreter, Alfred Saco, rose for Caruso and said: "Mr. Caruso desires me to say that he wants to thank you all and now that he is a free man he says that he was innocent of the crime."

Ettore, the leader of the strike at Lawrence and chief center of interest that has aroused world wide attention, addressed the jury. "May I please, the court," he said, "I thank you not only for myself, but in the name of my companions. I also feel impelled to thank the court for the fair manner in which this trial has been conducted. The thanks we offer are not only ours, but in the name of the working class."

Scene in Court Room.

The jury entered the room at 8:20 o'clock. Immediately thereafter the prisoners each wearing a red carnation were brought to the cage in the center of the room. All were smiling. Judge Quinn presided from the bench at 8:24 and asked if the jury had agreed upon a verdict.

"We have," said the foreman as he handed it to the court bailiff. "Joseph Caruso stand up," commanded Clerk George.

As Caruso obeyed the clerk called, "Caruso, face the jury. Jurymen look at the prisoner. Gentlemen of the jury is Joseph Caruso guilty or not guilty?"

"Not guilty," was the unanimous reply.

Ettore and Giovanni were likewise commanded to rise and again the jury chorused a verdict of not guilty for each defendant. The jury which for more than six weeks had listened to the evidence in this notable trial was then excused from further service with the thanks of the court.

Result of Strike.

The trial of Joseph J. Ettore, member of the Executive Committee of the Industrial Workers of the World, Arturo Giovanni, a Socialist writer of Brooklyn, New York, and Joseph Caruso, a mill worker, came about in consequence of the strike in the textile mills in Lawrence, Mass., suddenly precipitated January 12 last and continued for two months.

Ettore and Giovanni were accused as accessories before the fact to the murder of Anna Lopizzo, who was killed in a street riot. The Commonwealth maintained that they incited the riot in which the woman met her death by inflammatory speeches to the strikers. Caruso was accused, with Salvatore Senito, who never has been apprehended, with actual participation in the riot.

The strike, which was accompanied by much violence, enlisting organized and unorganized workers on one hand and mill owners on the other, with the police of Lawrence and militia of Massachusetts on guard to avert disastrous consequences, attracted world-wide attention for many weeks. Riots were frequent; cars in which the women were being taken to work were assailed and in some cases injured, and there were repeated clashes between the strikers and the organized forces of the law until citizens of Lawrence were alarmed at the threatening struggle. Its climax came on January 29, a day begun with a parade of agitated foreign workers to demonstrate their solidarity against the mill owners and end with a riot in which the woman was slain and Oscar Benoit, a Lawrence policeman, stabbed.

Appeal to Congress.

Even Congress was appealed to during the struggle following an attempt of strike leaders to take from Lawrence to Philadelphia a hundred children of strikers' families to be cared for by sympathizers. This effort, preceded by successful deportation of strikers' children to New York and other cities, was frustrated by the police in a clash at the railroad station in which the fathers, mothers and children clashed with the authorities. Many men and women were arrested. This occurrence, widely heralded, aroused protests from all parts of the United States and prompted Victor Berger, Socialist member of the House of Representatives to plan a Congressional investigation of the strike and working conditions in the mills of the American Woolen Company and others.

A resolution directing such an inquiry brought about a preliminary hearing before the Rules Committee of the House in which Lawrence strikers, men, women and children, representatives of the mill owners and representatives of the Lawrence authorities, participated. The hearings held in the caucus room of the House office building in Washington aroused intense interest, hundreds of persons, including Mrs. Taft, wife of the president, attending them for several days. No Congressional action, however, was recommended.

Ettore in Command.

The strike began on January 12

DEFENSE EXAMINES WITNESS FURTHER

Cross-examination of Ortie McManigal
To Try to Show All Guilty Defendants Have Been Named,
Was Continued.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Indianapolis, Nov. 26.—Adhering to its arguments that the dynamiters who have already confessed alone were responsible for explosions, the defense at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today continued its cross-examination of Ortie E. McManigal. Senator John W. Kern, chief counsel for the forty-five defendants pled McManigal with questions intended to show that the dynamiter kept as secluded as possible while on his trips of destruction. When I went to Boston to see Michael E. Young, the iron workers' business agent, about blowing the tower on the municipal building at Springfield, Mass., in April, 1911, Young called me down," said McManigal. "He said I had told J. J. McNamara: 'I was not to stop at Boston, as Young did not want to be seen with me. "Didn't McNamara tell you always to see as few as possible and didn't you receive your instructions from McNamara alone?" asked Senator Kern. "From McNamara and Herbert S. Hookin once when Hookin instructed me. I told him if I was caught we all would be caught. "But you never got any instructions about jobs to be blown up from anyone except McNamara?" "I said McNamara and Hookin. Young in Boston talked to me about doing work for the local union, but I told him I worked only for the international."

Olaf A. Tivimoe, San Francisco, a defendant who had been sitting at counsel's table since the trial began, was ordered by Judge Anderson to sit among the other defendants. "I notice there is a perpetual smile on the face of the defendant while the witness is being examined. I will not permit any demonstration either by smiling or otherwise."

The state contends that a motive for the crime has contemplated separate maintenance proceedings about to be begun by Mrs. Elyre against her husband.

Other irregularities in the institution are alleged.

BELOIT YOUNG MAN WILL GO TO BRAZIL

Beloit, Wis., Nov. 26.—Robert Becker, a well known young man of this city, has been engaged by the Field Museum of Natural History of Chicago to go on a research trip to Brazil. Mr. Becker will sail early in December and will be gone probably a year. As yet things are undecided as to the exact moves on arriving in Brazil, but the tentative plans are as follows: Mr. Becker will leave alone for Brazil and will meet Malcomb
P. Anderson, also of the Field Museum somewhere in the Amazon valley. The young man will join an expedition sent out by the Brazilian government. This expedition is of considerable size. Its object is to open up the wild country in the upper Amazon. Mr. Becker and Mr.
Anderson are going along to make collection of the hides and skins of the different tropical birds, lizards and animals.

They will leave that part of the country in May because of the rainy season which sets in about that time, and wet weather spoils the skins. The climate is also very unhealthy at that time of the year. The main activities of the expedition will take place in and around the Amazon river. This is one of the wildest places in Brazil. The young men on leaving the Amazon will go down the Amazon to the mouth, where Mr. Anderson will leave for home.

Mr. Becker is as yet undecided as to his next move, but he will either go down the eastern coast, hunting and trapping, or he will go up the coast to the country near the island of Trinidad. All Mr. Becker's work is the procuring of the skins. These he is planning to take to the taxidermy department with their measurements. Here they are stuffed. Mr. Anderson and Mr. Becker are after groupings and not just the single specimens. They will have their work mapped out for them.

FOUR GUN MEN TO BE ELECTROCUTED

Men Convicted of Murder of Herman
Rosenthal Sentenced by Judge
To Die in Electric Chair.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, Nov. 26.—"Clip the hood," "Whitely" Lewis, "Lefty" Louis, and "Dago Frank" the four men convicted of the murder of Herman Rosenthal, were sentenced by Justice Goff today to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing during the week of January 6.

Each of the prisoners was sentenced separately and in each case Charles G. F. White, their counsel moved that the verdict be set aside and the judgment be arrested. Each motion Justice Goff successfully denied. One of the grounds for Mr. White's motion was that the verdict was one of passion, prejudice and other influences. None of the condemned men gave any visible sign of his feelings. All looked stolidly ahead and each shook the hand of Mr. White as he was led away. Accompanied by Sheriff Harburger and twelve deputies the four men formed through a big silent crowd outside the criminal court building, thrust into the prison van and taken to the Grand Central station to take a train for Sing Sing where they will be confined until their execution.

Gibson charged with the murder of his client, Mrs. Rosa Menschik Szabo reported to Justice Tompkins shortly after 11 o'clock this morning that they could not agree on a verdict. They were accordingly discharged.

Goshen, Nov. 26.—The jury in the case of Burton W. Gibson charged with the murder of his client, Mrs. Rosa Menschik Szabo had failed early today to reach an agreement after being out six hours. The jurors fled into the courtroom and told Judge Tompkins that they could not agree. "You will retire gentlemen," directed the court in reply, "and make another attempt to find a verdict." Gibson slouched down in his seat when Foreman Hicks announced a disagreement. Mrs. Gibson buried her face in her hands and wept. During their stay in the courtroom one juror wanted to know if they had to find that Mrs. Szabo was strangled to death in order to return a verdict of conviction. He was told yes. Another wanted the Szabo will. It was given him. A third wanted the letters the alleged victim had sent to her home in Austria and these two went back into the little room behind the locked and bolted doors.

DR. MARY E. WALKER EIGHTY YEARS OLD

Widely Known Advocate of Woman's Rights and Dress Reform Passes Birthday at Oswego Home.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Oswego, N. Y., Nov. 26.—Dr. Mary E. Walker, the widely known advocate of woman's rights and "dress reform," is eighty years old today. Her home is in this city and all of her living relatives reside in this vicinity. Much of her life has been spent in traveling about the country, with long periods of residence in New York, Washington and other cities. Last March she passed through a dangerous illness and since then she has lived on her farm near here, devoting much of her time to writing.

Dr. Walker was born in Oswego, Nov. 26, 1832, her parents being descendants of colonial settlers. Her parents erected on their farm near here the first school in this section of this state. She attended this school, and later the Syracuse Medical College where she was graduated M. D. in 1855. She began practice at Columbus, Ohio, but later located in Rome, N. Y.

Among other distinctions, Dr. Walker has that of being the first woman physician in the world to hold a commission as assistant army surgeon. Upon the outbreak of the Civil war she entered the Union service in her professional capacity. For bravery and valuable service in the field she was awarded a medal of honor, which she always wore conspicuously. During her service in the war she had the unique distinction of being exchanged as a prisoner of war for a man of her rank in the service.

In later years Dr. Walker became a leader in the woman suffrage movement, and she claims to have been the first woman to attempt voting at the polls. She has made suffrage speeches throughout the United States and England.

At the beginning of her professional career Dr. Walker adopted what she called the American reform costume, but later dressed in full male attire and never discarded it. Attired in a man's frock coat, man's trousers, wearing a man's silk hat and carrying a man's cane, Dr. Walker was once a leading topic of discussion, when she was touring the country and lecturing upon the proper dress for women.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Sofia, Nov. 26.—As soon as Turkey shows she really wishes for peace, Bulgaria will, it is authoritatively stated, demonstrate her willingness to spare as much as possible Turkish susceptibilities by still further moderating her demand. In addition to not insisting on the evacuation of the Tchatalja lines in front of Constantinople by the Turkish troops and allowing the garrison of Adrianople to march out with full guarantees are given that the troops will not engage in further hostility. Bulgaria probably will consent to Turkey withdrawing the artillery from that fortress. In other ways also, the Bulgarian government will be prepared to do everything possible to aid in establishing a permanent peace.

London, Nov. 26.—While Russia is believed to be continuing her military movements on the frontier and Austria-Hungary is believed to be rapidly mobilizing an immense army equipped for hard field service, there is nothing definite today to indicate that an international war in Europe is imminent.

The increased tension, the depressing undercurrent of which is everywhere felt, however, greatly tends to decrease the ability of diplomacy to resist an ultimate rupture. Great Britain it is reliably stated has given Serbia as well as France and Russia to understand that she has no interest in Serbia's demand for a port on the Adriatic sea.

England also has declared she has no intention of supporting Serbia's claim nor of aiding any other power to do so. The progress of the negotiations between the representatives of Turkey and the Balkan allies at Tchatalja is unknown as every detail of the conference is kept strictly secret.

In diplomatic circles here, however, it was stated that Turkey has presented the following as an acceptable basis for an agreement: First, no war indemnity. Second, the retention by Turkey of the territory bounded by the Maritza river, the fortress of Adrianople to be included. Third, the maintenance of the sovereignty of the Sultan of Turkey in Albania.

The emperor of Russia today received in audience the Austro-Hungarian ambassador.

To Decide Lines.

Sofia, Nov. 26.—The lines of demarcation between the Bulgarian and Turkish force will be established today by the commissioner appointed by the peace plenipotentiaries. Negotiations will be resumed tomorrow.

Constantinople, Nov. 26.—Disturbances are reported to have broken out at the Turkish seaport of Dedeagatch on the Aegean Sea. The French cruiser Jurien de la Graviere has left with orders to proceed to the scene.

PACIFICATION NEAR IN MEXICAN STATES

Optimistic as to Conditions

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Nov. 26.—Consular reports to the state department from the Mexican states of Chihuahua and Coahuila contain reassuring signs of the early pacification of these portions of Mexico. In Chihuahua the government has prepared to distribute 500,000 acres of government land among small farmers while in Coahuila engineers have begun to survey over 1,700,000 acres for similar distribution. It is believed here that president Madero thus is endeavoring to refute the charge that he has failed to carry out the pledges he gave when he assumed office to break up the concentration of land.

SEAGRAVE COMPANY AGENT VISITS CITY

Met in Conference This Morning With City Council, and Chief Klein of The Fire Department.
Mr. Thomas Burke, representing the Seagrave Fire Apparatus Company of Columbus, Ohio, was in the city today and met this morning with the members of the City Council, and Chief Klein of the fire department for the purpose of laying before them the strong points of that firm's automobile fire trucks. He told the Council that the Seagrave Company had sold the city of Rockford three pieces of apparatus, one as long as three years ago. Milwaukee has two of their motor fire trucks, one an aerial ladder truck weighing 19,000 pounds and able to carry forty-four men up an eight per cent grade as demonstrated in service. Madison has ordered a truck from them which will be delivered in about three weeks time. The engine in the Madison truck has 79 1-2 horse power, A. L. A. M. rating and can develop 110 horse power at high speed under brake test. The apparatus he proposes to sell to this city weighs 8,900 pounds empty and 1,100 to 1,200 pounds with load. Shipment can be made in ninety days time after receipt of order.
Although complete specifications for the automobile fire truck to be ordered by the city, and for which bids will be advertised, have not yet been drawn up, Chief Klein stated off-hand a number of the items which he had decided upon. The city will probably ask that the truck have a six cylinder engine, water-cooled, of not less than seventy-horse power, wheels not less than thirty-eight inches in diameter all steel body, fifty gallon chemical tank, a truss ladder twenty-four feet long when extended, a fourteen foot hook ladder, and 200 feet of chemical hose. The truck will be expected to carry 1,500 feet of fire hose, two electric headlights, and electric searchlight and tail-light, four lanterns, two 3-gallon portable fire extinguishers, two axes, a crow-bar, a pike-pole and plaster-hook, and large locomotive bell. Five-inch solid rubber tires will be wanted on the front wheels, and duplex, three and a half inch tires on the rear wheels.

THOMAS ORCHESTRA IN SUPERB CONCERT

Wonderful Music by Peerless Artists Under Mr. Stock's Leadership Thrills Audience at Myers Theatre.
It was a musical event unique in the history of Janesville when the members of the Thomas Orchestra of Chicago, under the leadership of Mr. Frederick Stock took their places on the stage at the Myers theatre last evening. Never before have residents of this section been given such an opportunity to enjoy the playing of so distinguished a company of musicians who have won distinction throughout the country. Their program last night was beautiful. It was composed of selections of the great composers but the appeal through their wonderful execution of the pieces was appreciated as much by the layman as the keenest student of the musical art. Every seat in the house should have been filled and every inch of standing room taken for the concert last night. That such was not the case does not speak well for the city's response to attractions of such unqualified excellence. The city of Madison has secured the Thomas Orchestra for three engagements during the present season. There the citizens generally have gone wild over the prospect of hearing such brilliant playing and have subscribed $2,000. It was made a city affair, and the response was almost spontaneous.
Mr. Myers with the interest of patrons always at heart, was successful early in the present month to secure the orchestra for an engagement here. The date, last evening, was the night before the first appearance at Madison, thus thwarting a campaign for sent sale which the Madison people were planning for Janesville. Mr. Myers is anxious to sign a contract with the orchestra management for a return date on April 14, the night before another Madison engagement, and only hesitates because he is not sure of substantial patronage. The financial outlay for such an aggregation of artists is necessarily large. Their daily expenses are $1,400.
What last night's audience lacked in size, however, it made up in enthusiasm which ought to serve as the best kind of an advertisement medium to urge support for the return date. From the beginning of the well-balanced program to the last selection every auditor was held enthralled. It was a "feast of music," enjoyed by the uninitiated as well as the elect in musical circles.
The perfect harmony in every selection secured a certain even and vital motion, never hesitating or stagnating but flowing on with appreciative expression. Mr. Stock as leader is endowed with natural powers to draw from the members of his orchestra exactly what was demanded. The response at all times was wonderful. His grace and natural ease as a director was also most noteworthy.
Dvorak's Symphony No. 5, E Minor, "From the New World," was the most elaborate selection played on last evening's program, and its rendition took up the most of the first part of the program. Especially appealing was the harp and flute obbligato by Messrs. Tranonti and Quensel in the Suite "L'Arlesienne" No. 2 by Bizet at the beginning of the second part. "The Bee" Schubert-Stock was a delightful piece with a number of clever imitations of the buzz of that busy insect. "Mimic," Beethoven-Stock, was another extremely pleasing selection as was also "Concert Waltz No. 2," by Glazunow. To the two latter pieces and to the harp and flute obbligato encores were graciously given after bursts of insistent applause.
There are 65 persons in the orchestra and the large stage at the Myers theatre scarcely accommodated them with their instruments.

WILL SOON COMMENCE MEDICAL INSPECTION

Miss Agnes Anderson, City Visiting Nurse May Begin Work in Schools Some Time Next Week.
Medical inspection of the pupils in the public schools of the city will be begun within a very short time, possibly next week, by Miss Agnes Anderson, the new visiting nurse engaged by the city. This will be one of her most important duties and will occupy a considerable portion of her time. Miss Anderson has been at work ever since her arrival here about a week ago, and among other things which she has done, she has visited twenty-one homes in which there were cases of tuberculosis. Some of these she has visited twice and three times. Most of those who are tubercular were found to have the pulmonary form, though some were afflicted with other forms of the disease. Health Officer Dr. M. A. Cunningham is mailing to the physicians of Janesville letters explaining the work of the visiting nurse and requesting their co-operation in locating cases of tuberculosis and in the other phases of her work. Until her work is more thoroughly mapped out and systematized Miss Anderson will not establish any regular office hours. Her office is in the former Council Committee room on the third floor of the city hall.

It has been said of Prince Leopold of Anhalt-Dessau, one of Frederick the Great's most able generals, "In everything a soldier and an oddity, he was a prince in nothing, save in his love of power." His soldiers called him the "bulldog." He liked the name, for it set forth the traits on which he prided himself—tenacity, courage and toughness.

MRS. WORRY.

BY C. A. VOIGHT.

Roger Bresnahan, deposed manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, hasn't laid down in his fight with Mrs. Britton, owner of the St. Louis club. "There is not a flaw in my contract," is his most recent declaration, "and I have been told that I can collect every cent of the $40,000 that it calls for. After the National league sees that I mean to have what is coming to me I will talk business as to the future, but until then there will be nothing doing."

After remaining a bachelor for seventy-six years of his life, Henry Schmulbach, brewer, turfman, owner of Baldy McGregor and other grand circuit horses, has married. A few nights ago he led to the altar Miss Pauline Bertchly, 45, whose wedding gift was $200,000 in cash.

The proposed championship battle between Champion Johnny Kilbane and Eddie Morgan, the sensational English fighter, which has been tentatively agreed upon, should develop one of the classic fights between featherweights in a long time. Kilbane's ability has not been disputed. Morgan has won several great fights in England and since his arrival in America in September has shown rare ability by defeating Frankie Burns and Eddie O'Keefe in ten-round bouts.

MICHIGAN MAY JOIN WESTERN CONFERENCE

Possibility of Returning to Fold Again Talked of in Sporting Circles.

"Big Ten" football is the latest addition to the Middle West's gridiron vocabulary. The probability that the last "big nine" battles were waged on Saturday and that the historic name of the conference association will be changed before next season was the big subject of college argument yesterday and will remain so for some time to come. "Will Michigan be back?" now is asked by the fans. The question of Michigan's future activities is a warmer topic for every rooster than the final ranking of the teams which now compose the "big nine" group, and that speaks highly for the present interest in the Wolverines. The collegians all know that Wisconsin has won the 1912 championship, and that Chicago nosed out in second place over Minnesota Saturday at Marshall field to the tune of 7 to 0, and the Michigan question has the superior advantage of uncertainty.

The gathering of Western alumni in Chicago Saturday night was the opening wedge for a reconciliation, and probably will result in definite action by the Ann Arbor senate within a short time. As the only thing which keeps Michigan out at present is the fact that a training table is insisted on at Ann Arbor, the barriers to her return do not seem insurmountable, say the "big nine" graduates.

Coach Fielding H. Yost, who saw the Chicago-Minnesota game at Marshall Field, had nothing to say as to the intentions of Michigan, but it is probable he will use his influence to resume the old relations if he sees his way clear to do so without forcing the Maize and Blue to eat humble pie. Coach Williams of Minnesota would like to see Michigan back, and the same holds true of the majority of the other "big nine" coaches.

If Michigan rejoins the conference, the Western football situation will be livelier than ever in 1913, as Ohio State will also be a contender for the championship. The newest member of the conference did not play its fellow-members this season, but is planning to jump into the running next year. The Buckeyes are among those who would like to play Michigan.

MARQUETTE ELEVEN READY FOR BATTLE

Milwaukee Football Men Give Two Hour Signal Drill in Preparation for Notre Dame.

Milwaukee, Nov. 26.—The Marquette athletes were given a two hour signal drill yesterday. All of the candidates have recovered from the slight injuries received in the freshman-varsity game, and the players, as a whole, are in the best condition possible for the Notre Dame battle Thursday. Doyle's knee has improved, and it is the intention of Coach Kenney to start the star half in his old position when the whistle blows on Turkey day. Doyle's return has bolstered up the backfield to a great extent, and with Prescott holding down the other halfback position, lends the added weight which has been lacking all season.

The Marquette team will leave for the Windy City Thursday morning, and while in Chicago will stay at the Chicago Beach hotel. The authorities of the two institutions have had a hard time agreeing on the officials, but it is thought that either Eckersall or Jake Stahl will ultimately be decided on to either referee or umpire.

Added interest was given to the practice yesterday when Bill Juncan, coach of the champion Badgers and former coach of the Blue and Gold

NATIONAL LEAGUE MAGNATES GATHER

Notwithstanding Death of John T. Brush of New York Club, Baseball Men Hold Meeting. (BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.) New York, Nov. 26.—Notwithstanding the death of John T. Brush, president of the New York National League Baseball club, magnates of the national league assembled here to consider the charges against President Fogel of the Philadelphia club, announced this morning that they would go into session at 2 o'clock this afternoon as scheduled. What action will be taken out of respect to Mr. Brush will then be determined.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 26.—The body of John T. Brush, owner of the New York National League baseball club, who died early today in his private car near Seeburger, Mo., arrived here this morning. In the car accompanying the body were two nurses, a valet and a railway man.

Thanksgiving REHB ERG'S

IT is fitting at this season of the year that we should have a proper appreciation of the abundant bounty of Nature in providing the wool that makes the cloth with which we cover our bodies. Each year millions of sheep graze in countless countries that the season's shearing may adequately supply our needs; the rain that makes the grass grow green; the sunshine that nourishes it; all these, together with the wondrous handiwork of willing men combine to make possible the beautiful fabrics that keep our bodies warm; our eyes delighted.

And of these fabrics the skilled workers have moulded garments in strict keeping with the beauty and worth of the fabrics on which they worked. In outer coats there are many; in suits many. Every woolen of worth; every style of authority is here. Special prices prevail for tomorrow on suits and overcoats that you'd unhesitatingly pay $16.50 and $18 for, marked tomorrow.

MY BROTHER'S KEEPER.

The sentence of the two boys convicted of murder, has been passed, and the boys have entered upon the long years of confinement, to atone for a crime committed when they were in a maudlin condition from drink.

The incident is closed, and will soon be forgotten, but while it is fresh in mind, it may not be out of character to discuss the question of responsibility for murder is a serious thing, and the blighting of two young lives for a lifetime, is a punishment of grave magnitude.

It is easy to dispose of the question by saying that the saloon is responsible for furnishing the boys with drink, and that if the law had been obeyed the boys would have gone home sober, and the deed would not have been committed, but back of the saloon is the environment, and for this the saloon is not responsible.

The guardianship of a boy's life means more than the home, however good that home may be. It means more than the school, for there exists among boys a community of interests outside of the home and the school, which has much to do with shaping a boy's character and destiny.

The neighborhood in which a boy lives is usually his playground, and if the environments are clean and wholesome the atmosphere is good, and the boy develops along right lines. If, not, he soon becomes a loafer, and gains a reputation for being tough.

The boy is not responsible for the environment, but somebody is, and usually this somebody takes in the entire surroundings. These neighborhood conditions exist in all communities, and they are confined to no particular class. An officer was called into the third ward, a few nights ago to disperse a gang of young hoodlums, whose parents would feel humiliated to see their names in print.

These conditions exist because the responsibility of the home does not extend beyond the home. We fail to appreciate the fact that if our boys are good our neighbor's boys, with whom they associate, must be good. In other words, whether we want to or not, we are forced to be our brother's keeper, for self-protection.

This thought was brought out by Superintendent Buell, at a brotherhood meeting, not long ago, in referring to conditions in his own neighborhood, where he found it advisable to encourage the boys in innocent amusements.

The public playground, now being discussed, is one of the best safeguards for boy life yet discovered. The boy who cultivates the saloon habit, or anything else that is bad, is influenced by his natural desire for companionship. If the boys who have just commenced to serve an eighteen year sentence in Waupun, had been properly envired, they would not today be criminals.

This is a broad subject, too broad for limited discussion. It will bear careful study from every angle. We owe to the boys of our city, more than we are doing for them as citizens.

zens. It may not be possible to remove temptation, but it ought to be possible to shield them from ruin.

VEAL OR SIRLOIN?

"The high cost of living is usually exemplified by the price of sirloin steak. There seems to be a widespread popular notion that a good steer consists of seventeen hundred pounds of sirloin, encased in a valuable hide, and that the farmer gets thirty-five cents a pound for him.

"Other people insist that the high price of beef is accounted for by the slaughter of calves. These critics of the farmer go so far, some of them, as to advocate laws forbidding the slaughter of calves, or even their shipment. Perhaps these two kinds of critics might be allowed to answer each other. If the farmer is getting thirty-five cents a pound for his steers why does he kill the calves which, if matured, would become steers?

"To those who like to figure these things out, and they are very important things to all of us, let us suppose that we have a calf and by feeding him for five weeks on whole milk to the value of six dollars can sell him for $18 as veal. This leaves a profit on the veal, not counting labor, of $12.

"Now let us see what we should make if we let him become a steer, from which could be cut the baby-beef sirloin that makes high living. We will take $26 as the cost of his feed the first year, and $52 for the second year. As a two-year-old weighing 1,200 pounds, he will stand us $78 and bring, say, $96. Here is a profit of $18 on the two-year-old and of $12 on the veal. The farmer will have had the pleasure of the animal's society for two years, and $6 more than he could have taken for the calf.

"Some holes can be poked in these figures—but can they be quite disposed of? Let us hear from those who think the calf should be re-prieved. The farmer cannot be expected to keep steers for the sole purpose of beating down the price of his own property—even though he might thereby decrease to some extent the cost of city people's living."

The argument has been advanced that if the annual slaughter of 18,000,000 calves could be prohibited, that the price of beef would soon regulate itself, and the statement seems reasonable, but the above editorial, from the "Farm and Fireside," suggests that this sort of a revolution is not likely to occur.

From the side of the case presented it looks as though the producer of beef will continue to sell calves to his heart's content, and if the prices quoted are reliable, the only wonder is that we have any beef at all.

The best way to reduce the price of beef is to cut it out and eat something else. There are so many good substitutes, that many people have discovered that this can be done without hardship.

With eighty pupils in the dressmaking department, and all other classes rapidly filling up, the new industrial school furnishes a strong argument for its existence, and liberal maintenance. The board is handicapped for lack of money and the appropriation should be doubled. Education which equips for ability, along the lines of self-support, is worth all it costs. It adds to the assets of community, as well as individual life. Let the good work go on.

Servia refuses to answer Austria's demands until it has settled its present difficulty with Turkey. Consequently Austria has begun massing its troops on the Servian frontier and the Serbs have been forced to bring some of their fighting men back from the front to defend their capital. Meanwhile the Bulgars continue to puzzle the Turks and threaten Constantinople. So the Balkan war cloud covers a good share of Europe.

It is not a great while before the curtain goes up on the annual show of the Southern Wisconsin Poultry show at the auditorium. This affair has now taken its place among the big shows of the middle west and is of interest to chicken men the country over. It is a good thing for the city to boost such an exhibit and it is to be hoped the business men will feel that way.

One by one the Roosevelt progressives are climbing back into the republican fold. They succeeded in defeating Taft and that was all they went out to do. Of course Crane had something else in view; he wanted revenge for having talked too much and having been censured by both the President and Secretary Knox.

Now the cry goes out that the next speaker of the assembly must be a McGovern man so as to be in sympathy with McGovern. All right, but wait until Senator "Bob" says who is to be speaker, and it is safe to say it will not be an out and out McGovern man by a long shot.

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw is again president of the National Woman's Suffrage League and states that the work of the organization will go on until every state in the union recognizes women's right to franchise. Wisconsin is just recovering from such an epidemic.

Madison papers have had much to say about the vice conditions in Janesville, but mighty little time to print of the disgraceful botany class scandal in their own high school. People who live in glass houses should never throw stones.

Reorganization of the republican party has not begun. It has been going on for months and some of the men who left the ranks last July will be surprised to find how little figure they cut when they seek recognition.

Europe watches the Balkans with anxiety and is fearful that the war which is being waged there may involve other nations before peace is finally decided on.

Janesville demonstrated in its "Made in Janesville" week that this city is on the map as an industrial center and known to the trade the country over.

What We Would Do.
A New York paper asks: "What would you do if you had $3,000,000, like the Astor kid has?" We know what we would do. We would do one of the following things, and then be ready to go to the poorhouse:
Buy a real porterhouse steak.
Take two days off.
Hire a taxicab and ride for three or four hours.
Tip a porter car porter as much as he expects, just once.
Annex a fur trimmed overcoat.
Buy a Calabash pipe.
Employ an English butler for one week.

Stop at the Hotel Astor one day.
Get enough genuine mushrooms for one meal.
Have three shirts instead of two and a pair of suspenders for each pair of trousers.

Everlasting Fame.
"We must go to Stratford." "What's the use. We can buy Stratford postcards in London." "My friend, one travels for something more than to send postcards. I want to write my name on Shakespeare's tomb."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

After the feast—what then?
Why Rexall Dyspepsia tablets for the stomach! Indigestionest.

Holidays—and every day—they are ready to "serve" you. Never take a day off!

BAXTER MINE MAKES BIG YIELD OF ORE

Property Formerly Owned by Janesville Investors Making Heavy Turn-In of Zinc.
Reports from Cuba City say that the Baxter mine, formerly owned by George S. Parker, W. F. Palmer and the Bostwick estate of this city and S. E. Lewis of California, is making a heavy turn-in of zinc ore, and in the short time that the company now owning it has been operating the mine, seven carloads have been shipped. The old ranges of the mine are being used at present and new bodies of ore recently discovered are being permitted to lay idle. The mine was sold by the Janesville investors to the Frontier Mining Company of Indianapolis last summer.

TODAY'S EDGERTON NEWS

MUCH INTEREST IN BASKETBALL TEAM

Large Number of Candidates Report to Coach Holt for Practice—
Other Edgerton News.

Edgerton, Nov. 25.—The basketball season has now started and the outlook toward a successful year is very promising. The success of the team is of vital interest to the school and to many who are no longer in school. To succeed, the true, manly spirit for which the school stands must be present to the greatest extent in this year's team. Coach Holt asked for members who wanted to try out for the team to report in the gymnasium after school last night, and about forty candidates responded to his call. It is plain to see that this year's team will be the strongest team the high school has ever turned out. There are three men who played last year that are trying out this year. They are: Sutton, Johnson, and William McIntosh. The new members that are expected to make the team this year are Charles McIntosh and Edward Sweeney, who attended Sacred Heart college last year, and Charles Campbell and Sigurd Brue.

The boys are taking a great interest in the training of the team, and they all respond readily to the commands of the coach. It is realized that a good team will mean a good deal to the high standing that the high school has gained.

Made His Blessing Retroactive.

The father of a family who had been striving to bring up his children in the way they should go was very much annoyed at his son's uncooth habit of helping himself to a few bites before grace had been said. The stereotyped form called for: "A blessing on what we are about to eat," but one occasion being particularly exasperating, he astounded the young man by adding to his petition, "and on that which has already been eaten."

Goes Either Way.

A machine operable from either end, like a street car, has been evolved in England, and it is probable that the first car will make its appearance on London streets in a short time. The bus is steerable from either end, and when it is desired to proceed in the reverse direction, it is only necessary for the driver and conductor to change places.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Considerable talk is still being indulged in, relative to the trial of Edward Meyer and Harry Berger for the killing of Matilda Bergsterman. The case has been tried and retried many times. A local lawyer said today:

"In passing about the bouquets of praise for the prosecution in the recent murder case, Chief of Police Appleby should not be forgotten. When the energies of everyone else were directed towards demonstrating the guilt of the father of the deceased girl, the Chief was working on another theory, and finally caused the arrest of Meyer and Berger. His work was so complete that when he got through it was necessary only to work out the details."

"In justice to the defendants it may be said that their story from the first has been consistent, with one exception. That is, they stated in the beginning they had drunk nothing intoxicating on the night of the tragedy. It afterwards developed, and they so testified at their trial, that they had drunk a large amount of intoxicants that evening. According to their story, repeatedly told, they were guilty of nothing beyond a misdemeanor. The wisdom of their course in standing trial can hardly be questioned. They were charged with murder in the first degree, and rape. If they had pleaded guilty to this, a life sentence must have necessarily been imposed. No discretion is vested in anyone to change this. The sentence of eighteen years which each of them received will be commuted to eleven years and three months, if they behave. The prospect, therefore, of these boys of seventeen and nineteen years of age, respectively, must be considerably brighter than it would be with a sentence of imprisonment for life before them. It was within the discretion of the court to sentence them to either the state reformatory or the state penitentiary."

"FAIR PLAY."

Keep Jardinieres Clean.

Jardinieres should be thoroughly scrubbed and scalded every few weeks, or they become sour and cause the plants kept in them to become full of earthworms. They should be sunned occasionally, in addition to the scrubbing and scalding.—Suburban Life.

ETTOR TRIAL ENDS WITH AN ACQUITTAL

When workers in mills of the American Woolen Company left their looms in protest against a reduction without notice of two hours' pay a week in consequence of there going into effect a new state law restricting labor to fifty-four hours a week. Rioting about the mill gates immediately followed, and on the following day Ettore, a young Italian-American labor leader from Pennsylvania, went to Lawrence to take charge of the strike for the Industrial Workers of the World and to organize the dissatisfied and unorganized army of laborers.

By January 15, 30,000 persons were idle; the mills were closed; special police were sworn in to aid the regular force in preserving order; state troops were ordered to Lawrence by Governor Foss and an industrial crisis was at hand.

Ettore, assuming command of the workers' cause, announced that the strikers demanded a wage increase of fifteen per cent, abolition of the premium system and double pay for overtime. Numerous conferences were held with state bodies and mill owners and a strike commission was organized, headed by Ettore and composed of representatives of each nationality involved in the conflict, including the Italians, who were most numerous, Poles, Syrians, Lithuanians, Hebrews, Americans and others.

Attempt to Dynamite.

During the progress of the trouble Ettore frequently addressed the masses in churches, halls and on the Lawrence Common. In keeping up the enthusiasm, thus he was aided by Arturo Giovannitti, who went to Lawrence from Brooklyn, William D. Haywood, the leader of the Industrial Workers of the World, and many others prominent in the work of organization. For many days the situation in Lawrence was tense, with outbreaks of violence constantly agitating the public mind. On January 20 seven sticks of dynamite were found by the police in houses and shops in the Italian quarter. Suspicion against the strikers was directed at once, and six persons, Italians and Syrians, were arrested. Ettore was informed by Colonel E. Leroy Sweetser of his grave responsibility in the matter. Ettore immediately told the strikers that none of their people had anything to do with the dynamite and charged that the mill owners had planted it to prejudice the cause of the strikers. Subsequent investigation resulted in conviction of a Lawrence school commissioner for planting the dynamite. Later business men and William M. Wood, President of the American Woolen Company, were indicted for conspiracy to plant dynamite in Lawrence. Trial of these cases is pending. This development served to intensify the bitterness of the conflict and Lawrence was at fever heat.

January 29th Riot.

Conferences to settle the strike had failed, and on the morning of January 29 an organized street parade and demonstration by the strikers occurred. It was preceded by rioting before sunrise in which the street cars were pelted with chunks of ice and other missiles and persons forcibly prevented from going to work in the mills. After the parade Ettore and Giovannitti addressed the strikers in Lawrence Common, where they are alleged to have urged the strikers to acts of violence. That evening the streets near the mills were jammed with the idle mill-workers. Soldiers and police were ordered to clear the streets. The spirit of the hour was a dangerous one. The people sullenly responded to the orders of the police and hissed them. Many blocks of ice were thrown at the officers of the law. Policemen's clubs, in retaliation, were wielded over the backs of recalcitrant strikers, when suddenly shooting began and Anna Lopizzo fell lifeless in the street. Other riots followed the next day and that night Ettore and Giovannitti were arrested, charged with being accessories before the fact to the Lopizzo murder. Later Caruso was arrested, charged with Salvatore Scuito, as one of the principals to the crime as an actual participant in the fatal riot.

Arrests Excite Wrath.

The arrest of Ettore and Giovannitti fanned to a fury the flame of feeling among the agitated foreigners and conditions were even more dangerous. Threats were made of a general strike, organizations throughout the country and in other lands protesting against the action of the authorities. Ettore and Giovannitti pleaded not guilty on January 31, but were held to the grand jury without bail and locked up in the Lawrence jail until February 9, when, after a hearing, they were held to the grand jury and later indicted. The strike continued under the leadership now of W. D. Haywood until March 14, when the cause of the workers was victorious and the strike was officially declared off. The workers gained increases in pay ranging from seven to fifteen per cent, and concessions in working conditions.

Indictment of the strike leaders and Caruso brought about an organized world-wide effort to raise a defense fund and workers from many countries responded. Threats of a general world strike in protest against the action again were made, and since the beginning of the trial Lawrence has been flooded with circulars denouncing the agents of the courts and the conditions of the case. Threats to storm the jail have been made and feeling has run riot up to the very close of the case. When the trial began twenty-four hour strike of protest was responded to by fifty thousand workers in mills throughout New England.

Delays in Trial.

The case, after several delays, was actually taken up early in October in the Superior Court of Essex county before Justice Joseph F. Quinn. Efforts to get a jury exhausted a panel of 300 veniremen, and another delay until October 14 followed. When taken up again a jury was procured within two days and the Commonwealth began the presentation of testimony October 16. District Attorney Henry C. Attwill had charge of the case for the Commonwealth. J. P. S. Mahoney, for Ettore; W. Scott Peters, for Giovannitti; James H. Sisk, for Caruso, with George E. Roemer, Jr., and Fred H. Moore as advisory counsel, conducted the defense.

Granted a Divorce. Mrs. Jane Walker of the town of Euton was yesterday granted a divorce from her husband, Charles Walker, the grounds being desertion.

MRS. NONIE M'LEAN DIED LAST EVENING

Highly Respected Janesville Woman Succumbs to Blood Poisoning Caused by a Fall.

Mrs. Nonie Scarelliff MacLean, a highly esteemed and well beloved Janesville woman, the widow of the late, C. C. MacLean, died early last evening at her home in the Michaelis apartments on Milton avenue. Death was caused by blood poisoning, resulting from the infection of an abrasion wound. Three weeks ago last Saturday Mrs. MacLean suffered a fall on the sidewalk, skinning both her elbows. She had not been in vigorous health and the shock made her ill, but it was not until ten days after the accident that noticeable infection set in, and her case was not thought dangerous until Saturday night when she became very much worse. She sank into a comatose state which continued until her death.

Mrs. Nonie Scarelliff MacLean was born in Janesville, July 2, 1863. She was married to C. C. MacLean on January 12, 1881 and her entire life has been spent in the city of her birth. Mrs. MacLean was a devoted worker in the church and beloved by many friends for her kindly manners, helpfulness, sincerity of purpose and charitable disposition. Her loss will be as those of the family circle and it comes as a severe shock, few knowing that she was ill until a few hours before she passed away. Surviving her are four children: Isabella S., Sarah J., and Dorothy J. MacLean, all of this city; and Mrs. H. K. Brout of Muscatine, Ia. She also leaves one brother, George Scarelliff of this city.

Funeral services will be held at the home at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, the Rev. David Beaton, pastor of the First Congregational church officiating. Burial will be made in Oak Hill cemetery.

PLAINTIFF IS GIVEN RIGID EXAMINATION

Arthur A. Baird is Subjected to Severe Cross Questioning by Attorney M. G. Jeffris.

Arthur A. Baird, plaintiff in the case of Baird vs. Carle, $100,000 damage suit for alleged alienation of his wife's affections, on the witness stand in the circuit court this afternoon was given a rigid cross examination by Attorney M. G. Jeffris, counsel for the defense.

A large part of the cross examination concerned a letter which Mr. Baird had written to his wife, Mrs. Josephine Carle Baird, sister of the defendant, several weeks after she had left for a visit at her home in Janesville in October, 1910. The letter which the plaintiff had received from her and to which the letter submitted in evidence was an answer, could not be found by the plaintiff, according to his testimony.

Mr. Baird was severely questioned as to certain statements in this letter to his wife, which the counsel for the defense claimed, indicated that their married life had not been as smooth as Mr. Baird would make out in his testimony. Mr. Jeffris asked the witness if he ascribed statements in the letter to mental incompetency incurred as a result of illness. Mr. Baird said he did not.

The plaintiff is the only witness who has thus far been called in the case which will doubtless continue for another day at least. The jury was drawn yesterday and the attorneys made their opening statements.

Cried for hours, could not sleep. Resinol brought rest and cure.

RADING, PA.—"My baby girl had eczema for over six months. It was painful and itching, she could not sleep day or night, she would scratch till blood and water would run down her neck. Then it burned her so she cried for hours at a time. The right side of her face was one sore and scab.

"I got the sample of Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment on a Saturday morning, and put them on, and put them on again in the afternoon and in the evening before I put her to bed and she went to sleep and slept till next morning. I thought I was in heaven the first night, and by Monday the eczema was dried up so that all the scabs fell off. Resinol Soap and Ointment cured my baby."—Mrs. Wm. M. ## Why Druggists Believe In "NURITO"

The New and Effective Remedy for Rheumatism, Sciatica and Neuritis

We want all the sufferers in this city to know why we believe in "Nurito," because their belief is bound to be founded on ours. This new, progressive remedy is the work of a doctor whose standing we know. There is no mystery about it—no patent medicine deception. Like men who are today working the great advances in medicine the world over, this physician has simply utilized and combined ingredients which separately were recognized by doctors as having a tendency to drive the uric acid poison out of the system.

It is their unique combination which is new. Instead of a mere tendency to relieve, "Nurito" gives absolute relief which is as permanent as the relief from any disease can be.

There is neither narcotic nor opiate in this prescription—simply a harmless powder which is a complete antidote for uric acid poison. Patients who have been almost distracted by the knife-thrust, darting, rheumatic pains have been greatly relieved in a very few hours and entirely relieved in a remarkably short time.

Doctors throughout the country believe in "Nurito"—they have seen its work. We, as druggists, give it our fullest endorsement. We know that there is certain relief here for every sufferer and that often will be the most convincing evidence of it.

A GOOD COUGH CURE

Do you remember the good old cough cure mother used to have? It didn't taste like cherry pie but it did cure a cough in a hurry. Mr. Pfennig, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist, makes our cough balsam by percolation direct from the roots, barks and balsams of wild cherry, bloodroot, Lobelia, white pine bark. Thereby obtaining the full medicinal virtue and strength of each drug, making it into a syrup we call Badger Cough Balsam. It is made after an old prescription which is today the best cure for any cough, bronchial or lung trouble, healing and soothing to the irritated throat and lungs, it cures by assisting to expel the phlegm from the lungs, not by dosing the system with morphine and chloroform as do the modern patent cough remedies, deadening the nervous system, stupefying the lungs into retaining the mucus, thereby bringing on possible pneumonia and pleurisy. Badger Cough Balsam is a trustworthy expectorant, it loosens up and expels the phlegm. Get a bottle today for yourself or the children. It's safe to use, 25c. When your child is listless, drooping, pale, doesn't sleep soundly or eat heartily or is cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, or is full of cold, give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs, and in a few hours all the foul, constipated, undigested food and sour bile will gently move on and out of its little bowels without nausea, griping or weakness, and you surely will have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics it cannot be harmful, besides they dearly love its delicious taste.

Mothers should always keep Syrup of Figs handy. It is the only stomach, liver and bowel cleanser and regulator needed. A little given to-day will save a sick child tomorrow.

Full directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

DECLINE IN DEATH RATE DURING SUMMER MONTHS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Nov. 26.—During July, August and September, 1912, 2,949 deaths were reported to the state bureau of vital statistics by the various local registrars. This is exclusive of stillbirths and represents an annual death rate for the state of 9.88 per thousand estimated population. This rate is compared with that of 11.87 for 1910, and 10.57 for 1911, being considerably lower than both. This marked decline in the death rate is due almost entirely to the great saving in infant life during the summer months, the bureau adds. There were 273 less deaths among children under one of age during the quarter than for a similar period last year. This will account for practically all of the decrease in the number of deaths recorded and shows that a great advance has been made in knowledge of the care of young children during the hot summer months. Deaths of children under one year numbered 1,118 during the period. An examination of the causes of death reveals that in nearly 50 percent of the cases the children died as the result of ignorance regarding proper care and feeding.

PREPARING FOR CELEBRATION GENT TREATY ANNIVERSARY.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Nov. 26.—Plans for American participation in the celebration of the approaching centennial anniversary of the treaty of Ghent were discussed today at a meeting of the committee of arrangements in this city. The anniversary, which comes on December 24, 1814, will mark the rounding out of one hundred years of peace between Great Britain and the United States. Many novel suggestions for the celebration have been received by the committee. Some of the proposals call for the holding of international peace conferences, the issue of memorial postage, coins and medals, the erection of peace monuments along the Canadian border and on the principal battle sites of the War of 1812, and a great maritime peace parade through the great lakes from Buffalo to Duluth.

At The Theatre

"A MODERN EVE."

In nearly every successful musical comedy of late years one remembers one particular catchy song, which a matter of fact has made many a attraction of this kind go. Take for instance "Every Little Movement," "Madame Sherry" that number "Madame Sherry" which comes to the Myers Theatre, Wednesday evening Nov. 27, Mr. Mort H. Singer is offering his greatest musical comedy. It has not only four distinct songs but has a book that interests and and whistled in all parts of the country. Among the most popular are "Good-Bye Everybody," "Is the Girl You Married Still the Girl You Love," "Lonesome Moon," "Rita, My Margie," and "Every Day is Christmas When You're Married." This delightful musical play has scored heavily in Chicago where it was first produced last April and ran for two-in Aix-les-Bains, France, during the present time, and the story centers about the Cascadier family, father, mother and two pretty daughters. The mother rules her home with an iron hand and inculcates the same spirit within her attractive daughters, with almost disastrous results when two ardent suitors resort to force.

CURTIS-MERRIAM NUPTIALS CELEBRATED AT WASHINGTON.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—Miss Laura Merriam, the breaking of whose engagement with Congressman Theron E. Catlin of St. Louis created a mild sensation in society a short time ago, was married today to James Freeman Curtis of Boston secretary of the treasury. Not the least interesting feature in connection with the marriage is the fact that Mr. Curtis and Mr. Catlin were classmates at Harvard. The wedding took place this afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, William H. Merriam, former governor of Minnesota, and Mrs. Merriam. Only a small company of relatives and intimate friends witnessed the ceremony.

FIRE ENGINE "WATER WITCH" GIVEN REPAIRS AND TEST

Found to be in Poor Condition and Liable to Give Out at Any Time —Throws Little Water.

"The Water Witch," Janesville's second fire engine, purchased twenty-eight years ago, the sole protection of that part of the city now known as Millmore's Addition was brought down town yesterday for repairs and adjustments, and was given a test yesterday afternoon on the bridge over the race-way to the rear of the Rock River Cotton Company mill. It was found to be in very poor condition and was able to throw two very feeble streams. Chief of the Fire Department, H. C. Klein stated that the boiler was liable to fail at most any time, and the engine might give out entirely without the least notice.

STATE AND COUNTY TAX OF OSHKOSH REDUCED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Oshkosh, Nov. 26.—Notwithstanding the fact that the county board raised the assessed valuation of Oshkosh on $1,224,806 over what it was last year the city's state and county tax for 1912 will be $29,857.75 less than it was last year. The decrease is accounted for by the remission by the state of the state university normal schools and state capital levies.

Dinner Stories

The other day somebody recalled a story that Bill Nye used to tell on himself. Nye, who had a shockingly bad memory for faces, once got aboard the elevator in the old Fifth Avenue Hotel in New York to find that the only other occupant of the car was a short, square, serious-looking man, with a cigar in his mouth.

"He looked at me and smiled," said Nye. "And then I knew I had seen him somewhere before, but who he was or where it was we'd met I couldn't remember. I saw he wanted to shake hands and so I shoved mine out to him first."

"I don't believe you know me," he said.

"Well, I said, 'I know I've met you somewhere. Your face is familiar, but just for the moment I must confess that I can't place you. Where was it we met anyhow?'"

"It was in Washington City, a few years ago," he said. "You called on me at the White House; I was living there then. My name is U. S. Grant."

"I got off at the next floor," said Nye. "I was afraid I might find him if he'd served in the Civil War!"

A lawsuit was recently in full swing, and during its progress a witness was cross-examined as to the habits and character of the defendant.

"Has Mr. M—a reputation for being abnormally lazy?" asked counsel briskly.

"Well, sir, it's this way—"

"Will you kindly answer the question asked?" struck in the irascible lawyer.

"Well, sir, I was going to say it's this way, I don't want to do the gentleman in question any injustice. And I won't go so far as to say, sir, that he's lazy exactly; but if it required any voluntary work on his part to digest his food—why, he'd die from lack of nourishment sir!"

A small boy was selling papers at a railway station where there were some twenty or thirty people waiting for the train.

A comedian standing by called to the newsboy:

"I say, boy, would you like a new job?"

"Yes, sir, replied the boy. "What is it?"

"Well, said the comedian, "my master wants a fool."

"Oh, does he?" said the newsboy. "Is he going to sack you, or keep two?"

STATE REFORMATORY FOR WOMEN NEEDED

Board of Control Will Ask Next Legislature for Funds to Build Two New Institutions.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Nov. 26.—The state board of control will appeal to the next legislature for funds with which to build a women's reformatory and a new home for the feeble-minded. No other new institutions are needed so urgently as these, it is stated by President Ralph E. Smith of the board. The state has no women's reformatory, the Milwaukee industrial school being in private management but under the board's inspection from time to time. The Milwaukee school, also, is primarily for girls. Women offenders are sometimes sent to houses of the good shepherd in different cities, and the system has long called for a change. The beneficent effects of the probation law would be greatly enhanced were the state to maintain a women's reformatory of its own, in President Smith's opinion.

The last legislature authorized the selection of a site for a new home for the feeble-minded, and the board will inform the legislature of its choice. Then it will ask the solons for an appropriation sufficient to build the structure. The home for the feeble-minded at Chippewa Falls is taxed to its fullest capacity and one of the board's hardest tasks is the disposition of applications for entrance to the institution. Hence the necessity for another building.

MAKES YOUR BACKACHE, VANISH. DRIVES ALL RHEUMATIC PAINS AWAY

New Discovery Eases Stiff, Sore, Swollen Joints and Muscles While Backache and Bladder Disorders Disappear After Few Doses are Taken.

No matter how badly you suffer how chronic your case may be, or what has failed to cure you, your pains will leave, your aches vanish and the tortuous killing backache or rheumatism will bother you no more.

This is what Croxone, the new scientific discovery, does for sufferers of such troubles. It cures these diseases because it reaches the cause and removes it. It soaks right in through the walls and linings of the kidneys and cleans out the stopped-up, inactive organs like water does a sponge—neutralizes, and dissolves every particle of uric acid and makes the kidneys sift from the blood all the waste matter and poisons that lodge in the joints and muscles to scratch and irritate and cause rheumatism. It soothes and heals the delicate linings of the bladder and leaves the kidneys in a clean, strong, healthy condition, so they can filter the blood and keep you well.

If you suffer with backache—have pains in the neck or sides—nervous or dizzy spells—a few doses of Croxone will relieve the congestion and you will be surprised how quickly all kidney, bladder and rheumatic troubles will disappear.

Croxone is different from all other remedies. It is not like anything else on earth ever used for the purpose. Pills, tablets and other medicines merely stimulate the kidneys, at the best, giving only temporary relief. Croxone removes the cause. It starts to work the minute you take it and relieves your suffering the very first time you use it. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. You can secure an original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first-class druggist. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if Croxone should fail in a single case.

Father Lowery, pastor of the local Catholic church.

Didn't Seem to Suit Him.

Bobbie, aged four, had always played with older boys and consequently had picked up much slang. Recently his mother had punished him by giving him a spanking. A little later, still weeping, he came to his mother and said: "Mother, don't you love me at all any more?" "Why, yes, Bobby, why?" "Well, I don't think that 'stunt' you pulled off just now looks much like it."

And Arms Terrible Itching, Blistery Sores on Arms and Limbs. Could not Sleep. Used Cuticura Remedies. Entirely Rid of All Skin Eruptions.

Warrenville, O.—"I have felt the effects of blood poisoning for eighteen years. I was never without some eruptions on my body. The terrible itching caused me much suffering and discomfort, while the rubbing and scratching made it worse. Last spring I had a terrible breaking out of blistery sores on my arms and limbs. My face and arms were almost covered with rash. I could not sleep and lost nineteen pounds in five weeks. My face was terribly red and sore, and felt as if my skin was on fire. At last I tried a sample of Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and I found them so cool, soothing and healing that I got some Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Cream. I bathed with hot water and Cuticura Soap, then I applied the Cuticura Ointment every night for two months, and I am entirely cured of all skin eruptions." (Signed) Mrs. Kathryn Kraft, Nov. 28, 1911.

Cuticura Soap is best for skin and hair because of its extreme purity, delicate yet effective medication, and refreshing fragrance. It costs but little more than ordinary soaps, wears to a wafer and gives comfort and satisfaction every moment of its use, for toilet, bath and nursery. Indian Tribes Amalgamate.

Students of the Indian tell us that while the numbers of the red men are diminishing there is a slow amalgamation of the tribes wherever their geographical location makes this possible. It is supposed that there were 1,000,000 Indians on this continent when the Europeans settled here. In 1885 a government report showed an Indian population of 350,000, and it is estimated that the present population is 50,000 less.

TO HEAR ARGUMENTS ON GUARANTY CASE

Lawyers Will Argue Merits of Receivership Case Before United States Supreme Court Next Month.

Arguments in the receivership case against the American Guaranty company, a bond concern, in which the stockholders are trying to secure an accounting, will be heard in the United States court next month, it is announced by people in this city who are interested in the case. A decision by the court on the case is expected some time in January. The American Guaranty company, it will be remembered, was a bond company whose subscribers paid certain amounts every month for a period of time, with the prospect of receiving at the end of ten years, or some other fixed period, the amount paid in with compounded interest. The company went bankrupt and a receiver was appointed, and later the stockholders sued to recover what they might of the amounts they had invested.

SIDEWALK KETCHES.

WHY WHO'S WHO.

(By Howard L. Rana.)

The percentage of men who come back after being punctured in politics or the prize ring is very small. After a man has been wounded in several of his most important vital spots, including his bank account, he is likely to lose interest in the game and seek some retired spot where he has a cushion on it.

One of our most famous political athletes, Albert J. Hoyer, recently supplied evidence to this effect. Albert J. lives in a state where people are m-a-s-a-c-r-e-d burned in oil, drawn and quartered and hanged for the truth.

The nearest approach to Indiana politics this side of the bottomless pit is a war between the Turks and the Christians, made even that looks like a parlor boxing match in comparison. For several years Albert J. has been living on raw meat and sleeping in his six-shooter, and has succeeded in winning two victories, and a number of dog-falls.

Last summer Albert J. decided to run for governor on the bull moose ticket, without asking the consent of the Old Guard. Now, when Albert wants anything in Indiana, it does not come up to him in a go-cart. He has to go out and chloroform it with his eloquence, and chair it to the end-gate of his chariot with a majority of the popular vote. The Old Guard did not want Albert to become governor and appoint the oil inspectors, so they met him at the trying place and swatted him with both hands. Result, a democratic governor.

It may be well to bear in mind, however, that Albert is slowed up, but not down and out, stopped, but not whipped. He is a sandy person, and has several stiff fights lurking in his system. When his political hand is up he is quicker than a catamount and grittier than a bull pup. He is also young, and his expectancy is better than the Old Guard's. If Albert J. sits down and accumulates cloth and whiskers, it will be in a better world than this.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janessville Daily Gazette, Nov. 26, 1872.—Burglaries: The residence of A. McDougall, 24 Cherry street, fourth ward, was entered by burglars last Sunday evening while the family were absent, and thoroughly ransacked. Mr. McDougall happened to have his loose change in his pocket and the thieves went away without much plunder.

Last evening, between seven and nine o'clock, H. L. Smith's residence, corner of South First and East streets, third ward, was broken into and six dollars in money and a pair of gold bracelets stolen. The members of Mr. Smith's family were all absent during the transaction. The thieves gained access through the pantry window, which was accidentally left unbolts.

days away. We know not when the final curtain may fall on us, for life is uncertain as marriage or baseball; but while it's here, with its caressings, let's gather and enjoy its blessings, in cottage and in hall.

BY WALT MASON

The outlook's rather dark and murky for yonder fat and stately turkey that roosts upon a limb; Thanksgiving comes, the year grows grayer, and soon the dour and ruthless slayer will put the lid on him. Some morning, when the world is waking, some morning when the dawn is breaking, the East all painted red, that turk will rouse from dreams afrighted, and be astonished and delighted to find he has no head. But we, who blithely plan to eat him, may die before he does.

LIFE IS UNCERTAIN for that turk; this life, alas, is so uncertain that death with us is always flitting, and many get in his work. Just read the almanacs and ponder upon the billion germs that pine and languish if they can't fill his breast with anguish and put him in a box. Just think of microbes and consider how apt you are to leave a wider before Thanksgiving day; devour today your apple cobbler and do not bank upon the gobble that's yet two

THE DAILY NOVELETTE

Not a Soul
The night was dark. There was hardly a moon in the sky. Slim Pete, Bull's-eye Bill and Slimy McKroog stood outside the magnificent old mansion and whispered behind the shade of a Doberberry tree. Anybody could tell they were robbers.

"Slimy, you keep your peepers on the front of the house, Slim, you sneak around the back and keep your lamps open, and I'll shin up the water spout and pass down the swag from the third-story windows," hissed Bull's-eye Bill.

"Right!" breathed Slim Pete, "and if anybody asks you what you're doin' up there, tell 'em you're waitin' for a friend."

As Slimy McKroog crept up the waterspout, not a sound was to be heard but the purring of the katydid and the cheep of the chestnut blight. Yet he knew his pals were watching.

It was a perilous climb. Twice he slipped and would have fallen if his right hand had not been wrapped around his equilibrium. Expert climber that he was, it took him an hour to scale the slippery pipe. With bated breath Slim Pete and Bull's-eye Bill saw his burly form disappear within the third-story window. The funny part of it is it was a vacant house.

Humane French Burglars.

Humane burglars broke into the shooting box of M. Lindet, president of the Paris Law society, at Fosse Mousson and after ransacking the place carefully destroyed traps and snares for animals which they found there. On a wall where the traps had been hanging they scrawled the words: "Be kind to animals or else we will return."

Bear Baiting Popular Sport.

Few sports have had such a great and extended popularity as bear baiting. The Romans imported their bears from Britain, and the sport can be traced in England to the Conquest or beyond. Queen Elizabeth was so fond of the sport that, by an order in council, she prohibited "plays to be performed on Thursdays because bear baiting and such pastimes had usually been practiced."

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat BY RUTH CAMERON

AN INJUSTICE TO WOMEN.

WOMAN is the weaker vessel; at least so everyone has been saying for the last million years or so, and yet again and again the weaker vessel is called upon to stand the greater strain.

I am thinking especially just now of the home services which working women are so frequently called upon to render. When a woman goes out into the business world and works all day long to earn her living, and turns in part of her wages to the family budget, she ought to receive the same immunity from home care which is given as a matter of course to her father and brothers.

And yet what one of us doesn't know of a dozen cases where women, just because they are women, and presumably the weaker vessel, are asked to bear a double burden?

I know a young girl who works at high tension for eight and a half hours a day in a very strenuous business office. She comes home utterly exhausted. Home ought to mean absolute rest to her, but it doesn't; she must spur herself on to the task of helping her mother get the supper and clear it away. A younger brother who is doing some easy office work which doesn't take half his energy is far more able to help than she, but no one ever thinks of expecting him to. I asked his mother once why Gertrude always helped her with the dishes and Charlie never did. "Why, Charlie is a boy," she said, "why should he?"

Again, at this very moment, I can think of two cases where women are working eight or nine hours a day in business offices and acting as convalescent nurses to some member of the family at night. In both cases there are male members of the family who, by reason of their being male, the stronger vessel, are considered immune from such work; and in both cases, although it might be a strain on the family finances to pay an attendant, there is no doubt that that would be done if the choice lay between that and asking the father or brother to do what the daughter is doing.

Sometimes women, both married and unmarried, deliberately and unnecessarily put themselves in the position of holding two jobs by their desire for extra spending money; then they have only themselves to blame for the overstrain that is sure to result. But quite as often they are unwillingly forced into this difficult position.

It is surely most unfortunate when conditions in a family are such that it is absolutely necessary that the wage earners should share the care of the household.

It is even more unfortunate when the family sense of justice is such that the whole burden is placed upon some woman's slender shoulders while the male members of the family go burden-free.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

The Table.
Hungarian Goulash—Take one tablespoon butter, one tablespoon lard. Put in medium-sized kettle and let brown. Slice fine four large onions. Put them in browned grease and let them also brown. Cut one pound round steak with half pound pork shoulder in pieces about an inch square. Wash, meat well, then put in with onions and let meat brown. Add salt and pepper and two quarts water. Bring to boiling point, then add spice and paprika to suit taste. Thicken with flour like you would gravy. Let cook half hour. Stir frequently. Add half a 10-cent bottle of ketchup and a little sugar. Let all this cook slowly until meat is tender. Delicious if served with homemade noodles. Enough for six people.
Horseradish and Nut Sauce—This is excellent to serve with boiled beef. Remove skins from some walnuts, chop fine and mix same quantity of grated horseradish. Season mixture with dessertspoonful of powdered sugar and a pinch of salt. Add juice of two lemons and fresh cream in sufficient quantity that sauce may be neither too thick nor too thin.
Squash Bread (German recipe)—Two cups squash, one-fourth cup of

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am a girl of 16. (1) How can I entertain for GOLD DUST removes grease quickly from pots and pans Cleaning the pots and pans and kettles is usually a most disagreeable piece of work, but like everything else there is an easier way to do it, if one knows how.

As soon as the food is removed, pour in water and dissolve in it Gold Dust in the proportion of one tablespoonful to a gallon of water.

Leave to soak while washing the dishes, then pour off the water and fill with clean suds made in the same way. If particles of food still adhere to the inside of the utensils, use potirings for removing them.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

"Let the GOLD DUST TWINS do your work!"

I am well. Lately I have taken a great liking to read, but I cannot read over 10 minutes without going to sleep. Have been this way for years. Even after I take a nap, then think I will read, I go to sleep. Please let me hear from you.

A great many people cannot read without going to sleep. I do not know what would cure the habit. I send you a Household Note—For those who don't want to throw away a good granite coffee pot for a percolator. Put coffee in a piece of flour sack, or muslin and tie with string, put cold water in pot, put this tied-up coffee in and boil. You will have as fine coffee as any percolator can make.

Thank you mother or the house- hold not. I am sure it will prove valuable to many readers.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—I am a girl of 19 and kept company with a young man of 21 a short time while he lived in this city. He has moved away and we correspond. He has asked me several times to visit him, but I think it his place to visit me first. I know him to be a good Christian young man. What should I do?

(2)—A friend of mine keeps company with a young man. He seems to think a lot of her, but every pretty face he sees he falls in love with. Would you advise her to quit keeping company with him?

BRUNETTE
(1)—If his mother or sister should invite you it would be quite proper for you to visit at his home. You cannot go there on his invitation.

(2)—A man may admire a great many pretty girls and yet be absolutely true to one girl. I wouldn't advise her to throw him over on that account only.

TESTED GOOD THINGS.

These are all dishes tried and true, which may be used without fear.
Split Pea Soup—Pick over a cupful of dried, split peas, wash them, then soak in plenty of cold water overnight. In the morning pour off the water and put the peas to cook in two quarts of water; add a two-inch cube of salt pork and one onion sliced. Cook gently until the peas have become very soft, stirring frequently to keep them from burning on the bottom. It will probably take four or five hours to cook them properly. When tender rub through a sieve, return to the kettle and re-boil. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, add two tablespoonfuls of flour, thin with a little of the soup and add. When well cooked add two cups of milk or a cup of milk and a cup of cream, if it is to be very fine. Season to taste with salt and pepper and serve hot.
Smothered Fish—This is a good supper dish on a cold winter night. Fry slowly in a frying pan six or seven slices of fat salt pork. When the pork is brown, take it out and add five or six sliced onions of medium size. When the onions are about a third done, skim them out and lay in pieces of fresh fish in the bottom of the pan. Over this spread some of the onions, salted and peppered, and cover with a layer of sliced raw potatoes, well seasoned. Cover closely and cook slowly for an hour on the back of the stove.

Hot Rice Pudding—Wash a half cup of rice and put to cook in a double boiler with a quart of hot milk. When the rice is tender, add two tablespoonfuls of sugar and the same amount of butter. Season with salt. Beat the egg until light, add to the rice, cook just a minute. Put the rice into the dish for serving. Mix two tablespoonfuls of sugar with two of butter and a half teaspoonful of cinnamon. Spread over the top. Serve hot.

DAILY DIET AND HEALTH HINTS BY DR. T. J. ALLEN Food Specialist

TO STRENGTHEN STOMACH MUSCLES.

Digestion is largely a mechanical process. Where the digestion is weak there is usually a weakness of the abdominal muscles, and with better diet, more thorough mastication, better rest and more regular habits must be included a system of exercise to strengthen the muscles and thus improve the peristaltic action of the stomach and the intestines, upon which digestion largely depends. The massage roller is an excellent device for this purpose. Lie flat on the back, stretch the hands fully above the head, the finger tips touching the floor. Rise to the sitting posture, take hold of the feet and draw the knees up to touch the chest, stretch again and repeat. Walking on all fours is also beneficial.

Some Don'ts for Parents

ROCKEFELLER'S pastor, as he is familiarly called, much, no doubt, to his secret wrath, has been giving the public some "Don'ts for Wives." It would be interesting to hear him discuss some "Don'ts for Parents." But he carefully refrains from venturing on this ground, having, perhaps, an eye to his salary. He sticks to the ladies, feeling they are a safer subject, and, according to tradition, always interesting.

His "Don'ts for Wives" include quite a number of threadbare suggestions, among them being, "Don't nag," "Don't marry a man for a living," "Don't tell your troubles to your neighbors," and other advice of this sort, that has been handed to women from time immemorial. It is all very good, and there may be some wives who have never heard it, or never thought it out for themselves.

But among his suggestions are one or two, applicable to husbands as well as wives, and which might more correctly be labelled, "Don'ts for Parents," that are well worth pondering. For though to some fathers and mothers they are not new, common observation will show that many parents have not yet thought upon them; or at any rate, not sufficiently to realize the value of the truth they contain.

One is, "Don't forget to tell the truth, especially to the conductor, about the age of your child." Honesty is worth more to you and him than a nickel. A boy who is eight years old at home, and six on the cars, will soon learn other things that are not so.

Many a child has sat with bewildered look upon his face, as he listened to the altercation between his mother and the conductor as to his age. Some little fellows look as if they were caught doing wrong in being so old. Others have a sly look, as they watch the dispute, knowing very well what is at stake. Others, if the conductor asks them, glance nervously at their mother, and tell what they have been told to say. Others state their false age boldly, thinking it a joke, or a bit of cleverness to fool the conductor.

But the fact of the deceit sinks in, a seed of evil that bears fruit of many kinds. For a child has an unsophisticated way of reasoning. If one can say what best fits the occasion at one time, why not at another. And thus truth comes to have no meaning for him. And, aside from the question of honesty involved in not giving the railroad its equivalent for what it gives you, the few penalties difference in fare are surely no compensation for taking from a child an understanding of truth, and a sincere love for it, a love that will make him willing to stand for it against all odds. Aside from its practical value, it is a great joy.

Another of his "Don'ts" is "Don't make gamblers and drunkards of your children by running whist parties for prizes and serving punch with a stick in it."

This of course will arouse tremendous discussion, and much opposition. But the child who simply sees people playing for prizes, and drinking wine in his parents' home is not likely to discriminate, when he grows older, between that and gambling and enjoying refreshments at saloons. If the true inwardness of these things is explained to him, even as a child, where wrong-doing and injury to himself and others begin.

A father and mother, whose son is a confirmed drunkard and who forges his father's name to checks and does every other wrong thing imaginable, are heartbroken over their boy's defections, and cannot see how he ever came to such a state. Yet wine and intoxicating liquors are served constantly in their home, and from childhood that boy has drunk them. But the parents do not see the connection. They probably would be amazed and shocked if it were pointed out to them, and they were told that right in the boy's own home this habit was formed, that is now breaking their hearts.

These "Don'ts" of Rockefeller's pastor are full of warning.

Domestic Science DEPARTMENT CONDUCTED BY Mrs. Alice, Mitchell Kirk

In determining the amount of money for food per person per day, locality will be very important. In Cleveland and in different sections of the city there is a wide variation in prices. In institutions, where food is purchased in large amounts the food is less per person.

So an absolutely definite statement is therefore, impossible, while we say one-fifth of the income should be for rent, if for schools, churches, sanitary conditions, etc., it should seem wise for the best interests of the family to expend more, then there must be economy on food or clothing. It can more safely be made on the latter, or furnishings of the home.

With a little training along this line we soon grasp the meaning of essentials and non-essentials. The best living or economy does not represent spending a small amount, but necessarily spending money in such a way that it may bring in the largest returns.

All things in the house planned and arranged according to a system will fall into line and serve us, if our wills are strong enough, and our purposes are sufficiently steady. This looks very well as I write it, but in an instant a home with all its possible interruptions is seen. The butcher, the baker, the telephone or door bell, and usually both at once, call, sickness, and we could go on indefinitely to list up before us. We all know the story, but have we as housekeepers deliberately planned our homes and housework for convenience, order and system, so as to accomplish what we had to do with the least possible effort and the shortest space of time?

Yes, I believe many homes have and are doing just this very thing today. But it does not represent the majority. Use your brains while you use your feet and hands, plan what you have for the week in advance, whether it be cooking, sewing, preparation or buying.

Much of our housekeeping can be made more efficient, more economic and more systematic by using new methods, materials and appliances in cooking and general housework.

A business man said to me recently, "I have every known labor-saving device for the woman in the home. In my office, and yet my wife insists upon going on using the utensils and methods her mother and grandmother used.

Revolutionize your kitchen equipment, use gas, denatured alcohol, steam and fireless cookers, and electricity, when practical.

And especially with the fireless cooker, if interruptions come, your food is where it is cooking without burning and no anxiety to you.

We do so much useless housework. Get rid of it. The wise domestic administration is planned so that everything is done in the least labor and in the shortest time. House-keeping is recognized as a definite science, and schools and colleges are adding courses in domestic science and home economics.

When a great many people want the same thing they get it. Manufacturers are making wonderful time and labor-saving devices, but they cannot systematize your work for you. Do this, and the homes will be more comfortable, less friction, no nerves, and more attractive to young and old.

It is utterly impossible to make out a schedule for your work in your home as it would be to make menus for you.

In my housekeeping I could not see that Monday was a good day for washing. But that might be the very best day for you.

Take a pencil and paper and make out your own schedule and trim, fit, systematize until it is best adapted to your family and your standards of living.

Abraham Lincoln. In the language of the shop, the farm, the boat, the street, or the nursery, he told the high truths that reason and religion taught, and took possession of his audience by a storm of speech, pouring upon them all the riches of his brave plebeian soul, baptizing every head anew; a man who with the people seemed more mob than they, and with kings the most imperial.—Theodore Parker.

CRITICAL TIME OF WOMAN'S LIFE

From 40 to 50 Years of Age. How It May Be Passed in Safety.

Odd, Va.: "I am enjoying better health than I have for 20 years, and I believe I can safely say now that I am a well woman. I was reared on a farm and had all kinds of heavy work to do which caused the troubles that came on me later. For five years during the Change of Life I was not able to lift a pail of water. I had hemorrhages which would last for weeks and I was not able to sit up in bed. I suffered a great deal with my back and was so nervous I could scarcely sleep at night, and I did not do any housework for three years."

"Now I can do as much work as any woman of my age in the country, thanks to the benefit I have received from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I recommend your remedies to all suffering women."—Mrs. MARTHA L. HOLLOWAY, Odd, Va.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. We know of no other medicine which has such a record of success as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For more than 30 years it has been the standard remedy for woman's ills.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (Confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Bungalow Candlesticks. Novelties in the candlestick line are always making their appearance, and just now the Japanese floor lantern is the latest thing. These stand from three to six feet high, or even higher, and are both picturesque and practical. The candle is enclosed in a beautiful deep globe to keep the breeze from the flame, and as the globe is arranged to hold a large candle it will burn a long time.

To Keep Ferns Fresh. Use a soil of about half leaf mold or smooth earth and half fine sand. Give abundant drainage and then plenty of water. About once a month put them in the wash tub or bathtub and give a thorough washing, not sparing soap; rinse well, and slightly loosen the soil before returning them to the stand. A bit of fresh beef buried in the soil occasionally helps.

HIS RISE TO POWER

By HENRY RUSSELL MILLER.

—Author of
"The Man Higher Up"

Copyright, 1911, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

He treated the life to the silence it deserved, and Miss Roberta, who did not ignore the value of the last word in a tilt, triumphantly rose from the table and left the room. Hugh Dunmende was held by his neighbors and hitherto had been accounted by his son a good man, a just judge and an exemplary citizen. His diet, judicial and private, carried great weight in the community. And he seemed troubled by no questions of—not having formulated the disturbing doubt, John called it properly.

"I hope," Judge Dunmende continued, "you aren't falling into your aunt's habit of looking a gift horse in the mouth."

"Then it—this nomination—will be a gift from Murchell?"

"You couldn't have it otherwise."

"And you see nothing wrong in that?"

"I myself should be glad to have his support for any office I might seek."

The judge regarded this answer as sufficient. "I'm glad you have it. It shows his friendship for us continues. And," he cleared his throat significantly, "it augurs well for other honors to them—our family."

Two little creases settled between John's eyes.

Miss Roberta was a vigorous spinster of sixty whose caustic tongue tried, not always successfully, to hide the kindly impulses of her heart. She was a lady of many violent dislikes and a few equally violent friendships.

Later in the evening she found John alone on the western porch staring up into the sky. The prophecy of the morning's red sunrise was about to be fulfilled; it was evident that a storm was brewing.

"Steve Hampden," Miss Roberta remarked in a carefully casual tone, "is home. And Katherine," she added, "yes? negligently."

"You go and call on her. Go to night."

"Can't I have?" he pawned—"an appointment with the sandman. I didn't sleep much last night. Won't she keep?" She seemed healthy enough the last time I saw her. Regular little red headed tomboy, she was."

"She mightn't stay long," Miss Roberta's tone implied that this contingency would be little short of calamitous. "And Warren Blake is dancing after her already."

"Dear Aunt Roberta, Warren never in his life did anything so frivolous as dancing. Why are you in such a hurry to have me fall in love?"

"I don't want you to grow old and crabbed and—lonesome—like me."

"Why—why, Aunt Roberta, I didn't know you felt that way. You mustn't you know," he said gravely, and patted her hand affectionately, from which unvoiced demonstration she hastily snatched it away.

He laughed. "There's time enough for mating anyhow. I'm only thirty; and, besides, what could I offer a girl, even if I were so reckless as to fall in love?"

"Yourself," Miss Roberta could not entirely repress a hint of pride.

"Those spectacles you're always losing must be rose colored. I'd want to offer something more than myself, Aunt Roberta—something of achievement that would prove my worth. I couldn't love a woman who could care for a little, futile man. When I've done something, then—"

"I know what you're thinking, John. Don't go into politics."

"I've got to. I don't want to go all my life as I have done, drudging along for a little money, drying up in the routine, my outlook narrowing. I'd have nothing to show in justification of my living. Why, I'd be no better than Warren Blake, Aunt Roberta."

One night, by a stretch of the imagination, have called the sound Miss Roberta emitted a laugh.

Across Main street from the courthouse square—scene of Daniel Webster's famous speech, the war time demonstrations and the annual rally—stands a red brick, white porticoed mansion in the style we distinguish as colonial. This house was built in the early thirties by Thomas Dunmende, founder of New Chelsen, then in his eightieth year, a period of life when his thoughts should have been centered on heavenly glories, but were, in fact, busied with the cares and vanities of this world.

Thomas lived just long enough to install himself in the new house. Then he died in an apoplectic fit following a choleric denunciation of Andrew Jackson. The title to the house descended to the pioneer's son, Robert, a gentleman of parts, who, as founder of the flour mills, brought commercial consequence and as congressman for one term the honors of statesmanship to the town of his nativity. His son was Hugh, the soldier and later the judge of the house of Dunmende.

Miss Roberta and John were sitting under a tree in the front yard. It was Sabbath afternoon in New Chelsen.

"I wonder," mused Miss Roberta, "how Steve Hampden liked the sermon?"

"He probably wasn't listening."

"Warren Blake walked home from church with Katherine," she remarked significantly.

"She was there, then?"

"Didn't you see her?"

"I heard the stir when she came in; but, strange to relate, I was more interested in the service, and I forgot to look her up after church."

"Why won't you go to see her?"

John rose with a sigh of resignation.

"Aunt Roberta, you are a woman of one idea. I see I shall have no peace of mind until I've paid my respects to this glided lady. I go!"

He could never repress a smile when he saw the Hampden place. Almost within the span of his memory its evolution—it was always called a "place"—keeping pace with its owner's fortune, had been wrought. The first house on that site had been a five room frame cottage, built just before the war when Stephen Hampden was manager of the Dunmende mills. It is said that he laid the foundation of his fortune in a certain contract for army horsehoes. In the seventies, being then owner of Plouville's largest iron foundry, he inaugurated the custom of returning to New Chelsen for the hot months. The little cottage was torn down. In its place was reared a red brick house, liberally adorned with turrets and scroll work in the style of that period.

The foundry grew—even outgrew its owner, whose taste, if not his talents, ran to speculation rather than to production. He sold out and went to the Steel city to pursue fortune via the bourse and the real estate market. In these days New Chelsen saw him and his family only semioccasionally. The house with the turrets had attained the dignity of a "country place." Then New Chelsen heard that Steve Hampden had been admitted into the honorable and exclusive circle of millionaires. With wealth and travel came taste. The "country house" was remodeled. The turrets were razed; wings were added to the house; the iron picket fence was removed and a hedge planted in its stead. Not all the architect's devices could make of the house a thing of beauty, so it was planted and trained to enshroud its naked ugliness. A few years with nature, assisted by the English gardener, and the transformation was complete.

But not enough, for New Chelsen knew of another structure in course of erection on the crest of East Ridge, to be the "palatial residence," as the Globe took pleasure in reporting, "of our fellow citizen, Stephen Hampden, who it is hoped will be often in our midst."

CHAPTER III.
Sunset.

A BUTLER answered John's ring and on inquiry informed him that the ladies of the Hampden family were not at home.

"Will you wait, sir?"

"No." And John turned away. He walked out into the country across the bridge at the confluence of North Branch and South Branch, where rises Grant's Knob. He followed the path that leads, corkscrew fashion, to the crest of the knob, and there, in the thick of the shade of a big walnut, leaning against an old bowlder that had crowned the knob longer than John could remember, sat the object of his quest.

He had an instant to look at her before she observed him, and smilingly he availed himself of it. And very charming, very alluring she was to his eyes in her light summery gown and the big, soft leghorn hat with its flowery and leaves dancing in the breeze. An open book lay in her lap, but she was not reading. Through half closed eyes she was gazing dreamily at the hills that marched away into the blue distance.

He took a step toward her. She heard him and looked up.

"Hello!" he said.

"Good afternoon." Her salutation was very cool indeed.

"Of course if you don't want me to stay."

"It isn't my hill."

He laughed outright. "Her tactics never vary, it seems," he remarked. "Effective, though. Quer. Isn't it how attractive a girl becomes when she puts on that frigid, speak to me if you dare manner?"

"You were very stupid not to know me the other day."

"But I remembered you."

"You mean you forgot all about me."

"As an impudent, long legged, free-kick tomboy with red hair while you?"

He paused deliberately.

"My hair was never red," she replied coldly.

Suddenly the clouds broke away. She returned to him with a laugh. "Oh, I can't keep it up. But where did you get your courage? You weren't nearly so brave the other morning. I've been here six days. Why haven't you come to see me?" she demanded.

"Well, you see," he began lamely to explain, "I've had a good many important things to think about and—"

"And I was, together important not interesting. You need practice, I see."

"But you are."

"You really find me interesting?"

"You know," she worked hard, very hard, to earn the involuntary, generous compliment I am about to receive.

"I do—surprisingly so," he responded promptly.

"You needn't be so surprised," she retorted. "I was always rather presentable in spite of the freckles, only you wouldn't condescend to notice it. You didn't like me."

"But you were such a pesky little nuisance, you know. Let me see," he added reflectively, "that was—yes, it's been ten years since I last saw you. Not counting the other morning, of course."

"No, eight," she corrected him. "You saw me after the big game, the time you saved the day. You walked right by me, looking straight into my eyes, and never recognized me." You were too anxious to reach Adele Whittington and be made a hero of by her. She was as proud as—as I'd have been if I'd had the chance—to exhibit you."

"How is Adele?"

"Oh, she's dreading thirty. Is fighting down a tendency to fat, has begun to paint and often asks about you. Are you still in love with her? And am I a cat to talk so about her? And has she had many successors?"

"No to all three questions. She gave me a bad three months, though."

"I'm glad of it," she declared vehemently. "Didn't you know I was terribly in love with you? That's what made me such a pesky little nuisance. Oh, you needn't look so shocked since it was only cat love and I have quite recovered. Quite!"

So while the golden afternoon waned they exchanged pleasant nonsense. His spirits rose unaccountably. He was very boyish, very gay. Sometimes they rose to half serious discussion that skipped lightly and audaciously about from peak to peak of human knowledge. She had traveled much with her father, who, it appeared, had "really learned how to travel," having to make the most of his limited leisure. She knew places not starred in Bradstreet's quaint, obscure corners of the earth, full of color. John helped out this part of the talk with questions more or less intelligent. She was pleased to command his interest.

"One could almost believe you had been there. You would enjoy these places, I know." Not every one does. I'd love to visit, for do, them with you sometime."

"I'd like to very much. But," he answered simply, "I'm afraid it will be a long, long time before I can afford it."

She turned and surveyed him thoughtfully. "Now, I like that—the way you said it. I mean, 'You speak of it in such a matter of fact way, as though the lack or possession of money were really of no great importance to you.'"

"It slipped out," he confessed. "I don't like to seem to pose. I make enough for my immediate needs, of course, and some day I expect to have more—though not wealth as you probably measure it."

To Grow Korean Figs. California is to try acclimating the Korean wild fig. The fig, growing on a hardy vine, on trees, trellises and hedgerows to a height of thirty feet, bears a delicious fruit. Some of the seed has been sent to the department of agriculture, California state university. The fig grows wild in Korea and has proved of great value there—Arboriculture.

One Ban. "Is that confounded joker about?" asked the imprisoned motorist, as they were working to get him from under the overturned machine. "Yes, but why do you ask?" inquired one of the rescue party. "Tell him," shouted the pinned-down one, "that at least he can't say this is a horse on me."

London Sandwich Men. In spite of the prohibition of its employment in certain parts of London, the sandwich board is in greater demand to-day than it was say 12 years ago. It is estimated that 2,500 men gain their livelihood by this means in London at the present time.

Recovered From Severe Lung Trouble.

While we all know that plenty of fresh air and good food are necessary to persons suffering from lung trouble, something more is needed to bring about full health. Beckman's Alternative is a medicine for throat and lung troubles, and so many reports have been received showing that it brought about good results in a number of cases which were declared hopeless, that all sufferers who adopt it, without otherwise, should, at least, investigate what it has done for others. It may be the means of restoring you to health. Investigate this cure.

Madison Lake, Minn. "Gentlemen: In December, 1905, and March, 1906, I was taken with hemorrhages of the lungs, which confined me several weeks each time to my bed. These left me very weak and I coughed at night and could not sleep. My appetite also failed me. My doctor advised me to go West. So in September, 1906, I planned to go, but I had four more hemorrhages, which put me in bed for three weeks. On November 1 I started for Denver, Col. After my arrival, I met Michael Brady, who, upon learning of my condition, urged me to take Beckman's Alternative. In about two months, I began to feel better. I kept on taking the medicine and improved fast. I gained 120 pounds. I returned home. I think I am entirely well, have a good appetite and sleep well. When I left Denver my weight was 120 pounds. I now weigh 265, my normal weight. I thank God and your Alternative for my health. I can help any other person suffering from Tuberculosis. I will gladly do so."

(Signed affectionately) PAUL L. FASNACHT, Beckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in all respiratory system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries and write to Beckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for more evidence.
